SPENCER HIGH SCHOOL

SPENCER, NORTH CAROLINA

FOREWORD

Having loved every minute of our high school days, we, the Seniors of 1953, have tried to preserve, by means of this edition of the RAILROADER, just a fraction of the happiness and fun we have shared with our dear classmates and teachers. As time goes by, we shall be able to return to our high school days by merely opening this book and seeing once again the faces of our cherished friends.

Having attempted to weave a tangible theme throughout our book based on the passing of time, we have come to the conclusion that the most elusive and the most intangible factor in life is Time. However, we feel that with this book we have outwitted Time to a certain extent. We have pin-pointed the high-lights of our high school experiences and placed them on these pages. Here they will remain -- unaltered and untouched -- by the Passing of Time.

"Why?"

Don't push; shove gently!

"LET'S START THE DAY."

And did you hear . . .

Better late than never.

fjf-jfj-fjf-monotonous.

"I have just begun to fight."

Fermez le livre. Du papier, s'il vous plaft!

"THOSE MORNING CLASSES."

Spinning Spinsters.

Bring, brang, brung?

Time to eat.

"Oh, you beautiful dolls."

Patience, boys, they'll be here.

"THE RUSH HOUR."

1-2-3-4 1-2-3-4

Freddie ↑

Plato says . . .

"OUR CLASSES TO ENLIGHTEN US."

Dovetail joints? Do they coo?

"WHEN DAY IS DONE!"

No Loitering on Campus, Please.

See Ya in the Morning!

It's a bird! It's a plane!
It's Superman!

Get in there and fight!

... And the band played on!

There'll be a hot time
in the ole' town tonight!

Homecoming--game of the year!

Long live the queen!

WINTER

Back through the years!

Sisters of the Swish

I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas.

Now, what can the answer be???

... But the memory lingers on.

Caught in the act.
